

Step 2: Sizzling Starts Self-Assessment

Look at each 'I can ...' statement and think about how you are doing. Tick the box that best describes your progress. You may have mastered some things, but there may be other things that you need more help with.

I can ...	☺	☺	☺	☺	☺	☺ write an introduction that engages and starts to persuade the reader let the reader infer meaning rather than stating my case overtly start with a question to engage the reader and make them think start with a strong quotation that validates my point of view paint a word picture to engage the reader's senses and build empathy tell an anecdote to make a personal connection with the reader.

Comments:
